„Nehmen Sie die Menschen wie sie sind.

Konrad Adenauer

Menschen – the course for everyone who wants more to happen in class!

What do people remember best? Everything that has a personal affect on them. And what is it that affects us most? Psychologists and neurologists involved in the study of teaching methods all agree: we are affected by things having to do with people! And that is exactly what lies behind the success of our new course: it deals with people. Emotional, thrilling and entertaining. Take a good look – and you'll see: »Menschen« will affect you, too!

Emotion and Success

Three findings in the psychology of learning and neurology are especially important for learning languages:

1. Interest and emotions are best created by stories.
2. Our memory works with pictures.
3. Repetitions consolidate and motivate.

These findings lie behind the concept of »Menschen«: The learning content gets introduced by »Storytelling«, a picture dictionary visualises active vocabulary and a great deal of attention is paid to repetition as well as automation.

Participation and Interaction

Whoever pursues their own interests will learn more successfully, and self-guided language acquisition achieves the most permanent results. As a result, »Menschen« gives »learner autonomy« a position of central importance. Students can choose the topics that best suit their interests and are given a host of suggestions and prompts for independent further study. Likewise, every opportunity is used to activate students' individual knowledge and skills – for example with comments and tips or comparisons with other languages.

Fantasy and Versatility

Human beings learn with all senses. For this reason the course contents and learning matter are presented via several channels and integrated together. This method of presentation lengthens among other things students' attention span. Different forms of learning - from songs and exercises involving movement to games and film sequences - have been perfectly coordinated to provide a concept of integrated skills capable of increasing success rates.

Multimedia and Motivation

The possibilities offered by digital media have been utilised extensively. The interactive coursebook for video projector and whiteboard, the digital package for teaching and the moodle-classroom are technically useful and didactically effective teaching aids that also shorten preparation time. Learning and teaching both become easier as a result.

Motive – the course that concentrates on the essentials

You can achieve an objective much more quickly by concentrating and dealing with it systematically. »Motive« follows this principle with a clearly structured course that allows students to learn things quickly by a process of discovery, cognition and association.

Available as one compact single volume or as three-volume edition

The coursebook of the single volume edition or alternatively as coursebooks of the three-volume-edition contain 30 clearly constructed units covering the basic syllabus for level A1 to B1. The initial page of each lesson reactivates students' previous knowledge and picks up on what they have already learnt - three double-page spreads present in turn a reading text, a listening text or a topic of cultural interest as a vehicle for new language. At the end of each lesson there is a short summary of the relevant grammar and speech functions. The workbook contains extensive exercise material as well as special writing practice for implementation either at home or in the classroom.

Concentrating on essentials

»Motive« deals with vocabulary and grammar in a systematic way enabling you to learn quickly and intensively.

From the very beginning, longer reading and listening texts combine skills training with vocabulary and grammar acquisition. This creates a lasting and quickly-increasing network of knowledge. Interesting topics and stories help stimulate the learning process.

Individual consolidation

»Motive« is aimed at highly motivated students who wish to learn German effectively. Over and above participants in the course can continue to work independently and consolidate their knowledge with the help of materials on the internet and further intensive training programs. This combination of social learning in groups and individual consolidation results in quick success and the pleasure that comes with it!

Target group: young adults and adults who wish to learn German quickly, intensively and effectively

Media:

It describes the course as being suitable for learners aged 18 and above, and lists various course formats: intensive courses, courses with reduced hours, and university preparatory courses. It also mentions 30 transparently structured lessons and a separate workbook with exercises and a writing training manual. A 'Zum Shop' button is visible at the bottom right of the main content area.

Sicher! – the new course in a modular system

»Sicher!« provides learners at intermediate level with a solid foundation in the language skills needed for everyday use, academic studies and vocational training.

All modules present different text types dealing with a wide choice of interesting topics. A variety of well-designed and effective tasks and exercise types provides an ideal basis for teaching at level B1+, B2 and C1.

An intelligent modular system

Each lesson follows a particular theme and a modular pattern of reading, listening, writing and speaking as well as watching and listening (a DVD with film material for listening and visual comprehension accompanies the course) and vocabulary and grammar. Each module ends with a little checklist with which learners can mark their progress.

Cultural background knowledge plays an important part in the course. The choice of texts and their use implicitly provides basic information about Germany, Austria and Switzerland. Under the heading „Wussten Sie schon?“ (“Did you know?”), facts and figures are explained explicitly. Learners thus gain access to a wealth of information that will help them master everyday situations.

»Sicher!« follows the guidelines laid down by the CEF reference framework: each coursebook takes learners up to the relevant level of competence and enables them to take the corresponding examination. Extra practice material is provided to help prepare for individual exams.

Multimedia Product Package

Teaching aims and learning objectives are achieved using different media that often complement each other – from the well-tryed printed word via materials for a Moodle classroom to an interactive coursebook the contents of which (illustrations, tasks and practice material as well as texts) can be presented on a beamer or a whiteboard.

Target group: young adults and adults in all institutions of non-formal education as well as in the upper classes of secondary schools worldwide

Campus Deutsch – for a successful start at university

The series »Campus Deutsch« aims at students who are about to start a degree course at a German-speaking university. The material enables students to cope with the language and methodology encountered during the first two terms of their studies.

Fit for a degree course

The volumes »Lesen« (reading), »Hören und Mitschreiben« (listening and note taking), »Präsentieren und Diskutieren« (presenting and discussing) as well as »Schreiben« (writing) teach cultural techniques and methodological skills for successful studies over and above actual language skills while ensuring that the texts, tasks and practice materials taken from both science and the humanities do not demand any specialist knowledge of other subjects.

For classroom teaching or self-study

A comprehensive key for the exercises is available at www.hueber.de/campus-deutsch. »Campus Deutsch« can therefore also be used for self-study.

Experienced authors

The editor, Prof. Oliver Bayerlein, and the authors of each volume have many years of experience teaching at university level - they know exactly what levels of language competence and methodological skills are required for an effective course of study.

Target group: foreign students at a German-speaking university and students preparing to study at a German-speaking university

Planetino – language learning in an entertaining way

It's in their games that children discover the world - ever eager to learn and using all their senses the little ones take in what happens around them. This natural curiosity and the joy of playing games is made use of by »Planetino«. Movement games, model making and singing are three of the ways used to teach content in such an entertaining and variable way that success comes of its own accord.

Well-founded methodology: making things fun to do

Children explore their world actively. »Planetino« turns learning a language into an active experience. With songs, little stories and a play to round things off. All aspects of language acquisition are systematically dealt with. The topics reflect the reality of the lives of young learners: Funny comic strips and pictures provide the right motivation, an opportunity for kids to identify with characters and join in the fun.

Bright and cheerful - but clearly structured

Alongside their desire for variety and entertainment children also need one important thing: reliable structures. »Planetino« caters to this need with a well-founded concept. All lessons are clearly defined and made transparent for learners and teachers alike so they have a clear picture of what is going on. Exciting topics are presented in a multitude of forms with appropriate tasks and exercises - a slow language progression makes starting to learn German easy. Vocabulary, grammar and phrases are repeated regularly in a kind of learning spiral - one of the general principles of the course.

»Planetino« means learning successfully with all one's senses up to level A1 - after Book 3 work can easily be continued with »Planet 2«.

Broad range of products

The accompanying material offers a variety of different choices: from entertaining booklets to interactive coursebooks enabling you to present and work with pictures, exercises and texts on a whiteboard and a video projector.

Target group: eight to eleven-year-olds with no previous knowledge of German

Beste Freunde – because friends can help you to learn faster!

What gives us the most pleasure? It's the experiences we share with our friends. »Beste Freunde« is a language course developed for schools to teach German as a Foreign Language successfully and in a motivating way with a minimal number of weekly lessons. It is based on well-tried language teaching methods and a reliable choice of practice material for use in class with a minimal amount of necessary preparation.

Experience German together with friends

Young people learn best from each other and with each other. Following this precept, »Beste Freunde« revolves around a group of teenagers: they accompany students through the book showing them aspects of everyday life in Germany embedded in entertaining stories.

Teach simply and reliably

The lucid construction pattern of the course makes navigation easy and short lessons guarantee varied and interesting classroom teaching. The slow and easy progression with a clear sequence of tasks makes learning German simple. All this makes it possible to teach the language successfully with only a minimal number of weekly lessons.

Practise successfully

The workbook with its reliable choice of practice material is closely linked to the coursebook and is designed to suit the needs of school use. Special emphasis is placed on the use of grammar and the development of writing skills practised in short simple steps - to be used in class as a change from normal teaching or for independent practice at home.

Target group: teenagers with no previous knowledge of German

Planet Plus - the successful new and revised edition of our classic course!

The well-versed team of »Planet« authors has now made our popular course even more attractive: »Planet Plus« has new content to offer, short units and a modern design with a host of fascinating photos that will appeal to teenagers - at the same time the familiar language progression and easy-to-understand structure of the course make preparation for class almost „child’s play“!

Learning in short stages

»Planet Plus« consists of two separate half-length books per level with each book containing four modules each with three short units: thus dividing the substance of the course into more manageable portions in which the short stories in each module form the familiar framework. To accompany the coursebook from level A1 onwards there is now entertaining film material available - two films per book that follow exactly the content and progression of the coursebook. One more plus point: the initial pages of each of the separate half-length books make it possible to have a „soft start“ to learning the new language.

A clear and transparent design to encourage learner autonomy

A new feature of the modern attractive design is the presentation of learning objectives in an extra column. Your students are able to see what is expected of them in each lesson and this will encourage your class to learn independently and develop their learner autonomy! The new magazine pages at the end of the coursebook will make classroom teaching brighter and more interesting - here you have games, cultural background material and suggestions for teaching with the »Planet Plus« films constantly at your disposal.

Practice made easy

The separate workbook now also has a new full-colour design and forms a perfectly integrated extension to the writing, listening, reading and self-discovery grammar practice offered by the course. And by completing the „mini tests“ for each lesson, available as interactive exercises, your pupils can quite easily test their level of knowledge for themselves.

Structured for successful learning

»Planet Plus« structural design follows the familiar sequence: introduction, cognition, application, practice. Whenever new content is practised, previously encountered material is revised at the same time, thus consolidating the whole syllabus - and as always in an entertaining and varied way!

Target group: teenagers with no previous knowledge of German

deutsch.com – in the midst of life!

In »deutsch.com«, Prof. Dr. Neuner, with a team of young authors, has used the results of research into multilingualism to create a language course with a great deal of practical relevance for today's young students and the situation they find themselves in: in the midst of life.

Lots of languages - lots of fun

Ice cream and biology, fashion and family, a VIP quiz and a model casting show - these are some of the surprising perspectives that »deutsch.com« uses to illustrate the many lifestyles and different realities of teenagers in German-speaking countries and at the same time to cover the topics required at the various levels of competence. In this way the course conveys and combines information on cultural background with content that appeals to teenagers. Modern text types present authentic language that teenagers can then readily use in their everyday lives.

The advantages of a multilingual approach

»deutsch.com« aims to actively involve learners - with the aim of offering them an efficient and economical teaching and learning process. As they learn a new language, their previous knowledge of other languages and their mother tongue are brought into play. Commonalities and differences in basic vocabulary and grammar are highlighted. Already familiar learning techniques and strategies are re-activated, applied and extended, thus ensuring that the learning process is a quick and lasting success.

Active right from the start

The task-oriented, communicative approach makes conscious use of multilingual learning strategies. Grammar, vocabulary and speech functions are taught systematically - within the framework of a slow and easy progression. Categorising the short and self-explanatory tasks and exercises according to different skills and learning objectives make things transparent so that teenage students become quickly aware of their progress. They soon recognize how successful their learning process has been and then stick to the task.

With the new interactive coursebook pictures, exercises and texts can be presented on a video projector or a whiteboard in a lively and entertaining way.

Target group: teenagers and young adults with no prior knowledge of German

Ideen – successful teaching with the findings of developmental psychology

In making the transition from childhood to adulthood, teenagers must newly define their own identity. The transition from teenager to adult is not an easy one and is often accompanied by disassociation processes - which can be quite a challenge for teachers in class. With »Ideen« Prof. Dr. Herbert Puchta and Dr. Wilfried Krenn have developed a coursebook that takes on board these developmental psychological concerns.

Get them interested, don't lecture them

Teenagers are fundamentally never very interested in school subjects, but rather concern themselves with larger issues in life such as life and death, poverty and wealth etc. »Ideen« uses this fact to create unusual topics that are then gradually linked to the world that teenagers actually experience.

Subjects: From the unusual to a personal experience

Teenagers are not always prepared to talk about themselves and to reveal personal details. The further the content is from their personal circumstances, the more motivating and stimulating it is likely to be. The preference for unusual content goes hand in hand with both a fascination with the extreme and realistic details. They like to identify with idols who seem to have what it takes to survive in a threatening world – courage, ingenuity, creativity and love. »Ideen« is built on texts far removed from teenage daily life, making it easier for teens to show interest for the subject. In the following sections, however, such subjects are brought into connection with the world of teenagers and simultaneously with the major teaching subjects. And so learning German becomes motivating and effective for the teens.

Methodology

»Ideen« follows a task-oriented, communicative approach where linguistic skills and partial knowledge are integrated and exercised in such a way that teenagers' competences in a foreign language are developed in an interesting and motivating way.

Enlivening not moralizing

In lessons, the task-oriented, communicative approach is emphasised, in which language skills are practised together in an integrated manner. Using a large number of different text types teenagers learn authentic language and how to use it authentically along with the most important grammatical structures and vocabulary. The short texts taken from magazines, newspapers, interviews, songs or poems stimulate discussion.

Target group: teenagers and young adults with no prior knowledge of German

Media:

Reaching your target without pressure

Vocabulary and grammar are systematically built up – the slow and easy, cyclical progression takes into consideration the different abilities and competences of teenagers in heterogeneous learning groups. Important language is continually repeated and natural revision and practice phases integrated into lesson planning.

Active right from the start

With the new interactive coursebook pictures, exercises and texts can be presented on a whiteboard or a video projector in a lively and entertaining way.

Menschen im Beruf – lively and relevant

Whether they have contact through their job with tourists from Germany, Austria and Switzerland at a holiday resort or happen to be immigrants who are preparing for a future life in Germany as a health-care or medical professional: anyone in a job needs to practise the appropriate language skills relevant for acquiring practical knowledge and experience.

Specialist language helps to perfect specialist knowledge!

Our series »Menschen im Beruf« teaches the specific language required for different vocations, e.g. tourism, nursing and medicine.

Great emphasis is placed on the communicative skills required for each vocational context. Specialist vocabulary and frequently used expressions and language are practiced systematically: real situations taken from daily life at work are presented in lively dialogues and a series of authentic listening and reading texts. Practically relevant exercises make learning less monotonous and teaching more dynamic. The coursebooks with their attractive full-colour design include Audio-CDs with the listening texts - in addition all specialist language has been recorded for listening and speaking practice and is available as a MP3 download.

A teacher's manual is available on the Internet and gives teachers valuable tips on how to organise and manage the teaching process with relevance to the specialist language involved.

The ideal specialist-language supplement

»Menschen im Beruf« is suitable - given the necessary previous knowledge of the language - as course material in its own right for purely specialist courses or can be used in conjunction with any other general language coursebook of level A1 - B1 e.g. as supplementary material for »Menschen«. The language progression in »Menschen im Tourismus« and »Menschen in der Pflege« is exactly the same as that in »Menschen« - thus enabling general and specialist language to be combined in ideal fashion!

Target group: adults and teenagers aged 16 and upwards who wish to acquire specialist language knowledge in addition to general language teaching; students at technical and vocational schools and colleges

Im Beruf – job skills are life skills

Applying for a job, the first day at work, communication with colleagues and customers ... – the new course »Im Beruf« has been designed to reflect the working day in a German-speaking country. It is, therefore, perfect for learners who are looking for a job or those who already work but need to acquire the necessary language skills.

From classroom to working day

Conducting a consultation, giving instructions and reacting to them, participating in a discussion and understanding a report, explaining a technical appliance, answering a complaint, discussing things with colleagues: these and many other situations help to teach the language repertoire required in a vocational setting. The many examples of different vocations - business manager, master baker, technician, care worker - facilitate the transfer of the language elements to any individual working environment.

Communication in action

The course bases itself on active communication - priority is given to communication strategies in a vocational context. A variety of exercises and lots of role plays serve as stimuli for the use, practice and independent further development of the course content.

Teaching designed to suit students' needs

The units are short and clearly designed. After an introduction page with associative exercises there follow three single pages each of which focusses on a single speech act. As a result it is possible to tailor the material to suit students' needs. This will help teachers without any undue effort to design their lessons specifically geared to the course materials and the successful progress of their students.

Target group: adults and teenagers 16+ who want to learn German for vocational purposes

Detective stories with Carsten Tsara

Carsten Tsara is in his early 30ies, lacks acumen, and his memory is also only average. Not particularly good qualifications for a private detective, one would think. But he is one. He trusts his intuition and his motto is: an ounce of practice is worth a pound of theory.

Sicher ist nur eins

Carsten Tsara blickt nicht durch
Niveau A2

Some important documents go missing in a company developing hightech materials. What lies behind it? Espionage? Blackmail? Intrigue? All of these? Or maybe none? One thing is certain. Walter Dessauer is going to lose his job unless detective Carsten Tsara solves the case quickly.

Reading Booklet, 48 pages 001669-3

Schöne Augen

Carsten Tsara ist verliebt
Niveau B1

Reading Booklet, 56 pages 001666-2

Der rote Hahn

Ein heißer Fall für Carsten Tsara
Niveau B1

An arsonist causes panic in town with repeated attacks. The police have no idea who it could be. Their investigations are fruitless. Then an old lady contacts Carsten Tsara: she has a terrible suspicion.

Reading Booklet, 80 pages 001668-6

Die Angst und der Tod

Carsten Tsara macht sich Sorgen
Niveau B1

What do we really know about the people close to us? So little that it can sometimes be a cause for alarm. Carsten Tsara reflects upon life and upon death. He begins to see the world in a different light. His neighbour asks him for a small favour. He enters her flat while she's away and makes a sinister discovery.

Reading Booklet, 64 pages 001671-6

Die schöne Frau Bär

Niveau B1

Besserwisser

Carsten Tsara und das scharfe S
Niveau B1

His latest case leads private detective Carsten Tsara into conflict with two paranoid know-alls. Can he prevent the impending escalation?

Reading Booklet, 56 pages      301667-6

Short Stories

The author succeeds in bringing people like you and me to life with sympathy and understanding, making these stories a real pleasure to read and listen to. An air of amusement and at times of melancholy pervades the texts that adds to the reading experience and provides further food for thought.

The short stories are divided into short, clear „chapters“ containing single-language word explanations in the appendix plus exercises for reading comprehension and for developing reading strategies.

Das Wunschhaus und andere Geschichten

Level B1

The three short stories are about a messed up – but nonetheless lucky – blind date, about a summer beach trip with obstacles, and a view into a beautiful world which leaves many questions open.

Reading Booklet, 56 pages      001670-9

Der Taubenfütterer und andere Geschichten

Level B1

Four short stories – some more reflective, others quite amusing – telling about more or less odd encounters.

Reading Booklet, 72 pages      201670-7

Der Passagier und andere Geschichten

Die Fantasien des Herrn Röpke und andere Geschichten

Six stories about men and women, about dreams and the harshness of reality. Witty, cryptic and thought-provoking they provide an excellent starting point for further discussion.

Reading Booklet, 64 pages      301670-6

Der Ruf der Tagesfische und andere Geschichten

Level B2

Four entertaining stories about more or less conflict-laden relationships, whether between friends or partners.
