Menschen – the course for everyone who wants more to happen in class!

What do people remember best? Everything that has a personal affect on them. And what is it that affects us most? Psychologists and neurologists involved in the study of teaching methods all agree: we are affected by things having to do with people! And that is exactly what lies behind the success of our new course: it deals with people. Emotional, thrilling and entertaining. Take a good look – and you'll see: »Menschen« will affect you, too!

Emotion and Success

Three findings in the psychology of learning and neurology are especially important for learning languages:

- 1. Interest and emotions are best created by stories.
- 2. Our memory works with pictures.
- 3. Repetitions consolidate and motivate.

These findings lie behind the concept of »Menschen«: The learning content gets introduced by ,Storytelling', a picture dictionary visualises active vocabulary and a great deal of attention is paid to repetition as well as automation.

Participation and Interaction

Whoever pursues their own interests will learn more successfully, and self-guided language acquisition achieves the most permanent results. As a result, »Menschen« gives ,learner autonomy' a position of central importance. Students can choose the topics that best suit their interests and are given a host of suggestions and prompts for independent further study. Likewise, every opportunity is used to activate students' individual knowledge and skills – for example with comments and tips or comparisons with other languages.

Fantasy and Versatility

Human beings learn with all senses. For this reason the course contents and learning matter are presented via several channels and integrated together. This method of presentation lengthens among other things students' attention span.

Different forms of learning - from songs and exercises involving movement to games and film sequences - have been perfectly coordinated to provide a concept of integrated skills capable of increasing success rates.

Multimedia and Motivation

The possibilities offered by digital media have been utilised extensively. The interactive coursebook for video projector and whiteboard, the digital package for teaching and the moodleclassroom are technically useful and didactically effective teaching aids that also shorten preparation time. Learning and teaching both become easier as a result.

Starten wir! -Join in and have your say!

Our new course »Starten wir!« enables learners of German to progress from zero to "Now I can …" quickly and easily. Using a task-based approach that's fun and includes new forms of communication.

Have your say from the very start.

»Starten wir!« promotes learning in small steps that are very much task-based. The content concentrates on everyday topics, language use and language structures and is presented on double-page spreads, each designed to cover two teaching units. »Starten wir!« is thus easily divided into manageable portions and well suited to all types of language course.

Language practice via a direct route Each double-page spread starts with a warmup introduction, then practices all the skills and finishes with a task to test the acquired knowledge in a meaningful context, e.g. by designing posters, questionnaires, role plays or the writing of WhatsApp messages or blogs... Language competency is built up using the lexical approach (among others): concentrating on learning "chunks" of language and the development of wordfields.

Achieve things more easily

Coursebook and workbook are kept separate and are pleasantly light and slim as a result. The clear structure, the intuitively designed exercises and easy to understand instructions make immediate involvement possible without any lengthy preparation. The workbook contains one or more extra exercises parallel to each coursebook exercise numbered identically. Dictations, exercises comparing language usage and the vocabulary to be learnt per lesson complete the package.

Stay mobile!

Smartphone, tablet & Co. are not only part of the content and practice material, they can also actually be used in class to solve activity-based tasks or via the free »Starten wir!«-app to download listening comprehension texts.

Motive – the course that concentrates on the essentials

You can achieve an objective much more quickly by concentrating and dealing with it systematically. »Motive« follows this principle with a clearly structured course that allows students to learn things quickly by a process of discovery, cognition and association.

Available as one compact single volume or as three-volume edition

The coursebook of the single volume edition or alternatively as coursebooks of the threevolume-edition contain 30 clearly constructed units covering the basic syllabus for level A1 to B1. The initial page of each lesson reactivates students' previous knowledge and picks up on what they have already learnt - three doublepage spreads present in turn a reading text, a listening text or a topic of cultural interest as a vehicle for new language. At the end of each lesson there is a short summary of the relevant grammar and speech functions.

The workbook contains extensive exercise material as well as special writing practice for implementation either at home or in the class-room.

Concentrating on essentials

»Motive« deals with vocabulary and grammar in a systematic way enabling you to learn quickly and intensively.

From the very beginning, longer reading and listening texts combine skills training with vocabulary and grammar acquisition. This creates a lasting and quickly-increasing network of knowledge. Interesting topics and stories help stimulate the learning process.

Individual consolidation

»Motive« is aimed at highly motivated students who wish to learn German effectively. Over and above participants in the course can continue to work independently and consolidate their knowledge with the help of materials on the internet and further intensive training programs. This combination of social learning in groups and individual consolidation results in quick success and the pleasure that comes with it!

Sicher! – the new course in a modular system

»Sicher!« provides learners at intermediate level with a solid foundation in the language skills needed for everyday use, academic studies and vocational training.

All modules present different text types dealing with a wide choice of interesting topics. A variety of well-designed and effective tasks and exercise types provides an ideal basis for teaching at level B1+, B2 and C1.

Target group: young adults and adults in all institutions of non-formal education as well as in the upper classes of secondary schools worldwide

An intelligent modular system

Each lesson follows a particular theme and a modular pattern of reading, listening, writing and speaking as well as watching and listening (a DVD with film material for listening and visual comprehension accompanies the course) and vocabulary and grammar. Each module ends with a little checklist with which learners can mark their progress.

Cultural background knowledge plays an important part in the course. The choice of texts and their use implicitly provides basic information about Germany, Austria and Switzerland. Under the heading "Wussten Sie schon?" ("Did you know?"), facts and figures are explained explicitly. Learners thus gain access to a wealth of information that will help them master everyday situations.

»Sicher!« follows the guidelines laid down by the CEF reference framework: each coursebook takes learners up to the relevant level of competence and enables them to take the corresponding examination. Extra practice material is provided to help prepare for individual exams.

Multimedia Product Package

Teaching aims and learning objectives are achieved using different media that often complement each other - from the well-tried printed word via materials for a Moodle classroom to an interactive coursebook the contents of which (illustrations, tasks and practice material as well as texts) can be presented on a beamer or a whiteboard.

Campus Deutsch for a successful start at university

The series »Campus Deutsch« aims at students who are about to start a degree course at a German-speaking university. The material enables students to cope with the language and methodology encountered during the first two terms of their studies.

Target group: foreign students at a Germanspeaking university and students preparing to study at a German-speaking university

Fit for a degree course

The volumes »Lesen« (reading), »Hören und Mitschreiben« (listening and note taking), »Präsentieren und Diskutieren« (presenting and discussing) as well as »Schreiben« (writing) teach cultural techniques and methodological skills for successful studies over and above actual language skills while ensuring that the texts, tasks and practice materials taken from both science and the humanities do not demand any specialist knowledge of other subjects.

For classroom teaching or self-study

A comprehensive key for the exercises is available at www.hueber.de/campus-deutsch. »Campus Deutsch« can therefore also be used for self-study.

Experienced authors

The editor, Prof. Oliver Bayerlein, and the authors of each volume have many years of experience teaching at university level - they know exactly what levels of language competence and methodological skills are required for an effective course of study.

Paul, Lisa & Co. the easy and fun way to teach and learn

Learning languages is child's play - and a lot of fun! Especially with our new generation of primary level courses that successfully put the latest didactic theory into practice to suit very young learners: »Paul, Lisa & Co.«!

The easy way to A1!

»Paul, Lisa & Co.« gets you to A1 level with only three books. »Paul, Lisa & Co. Starter« provides an "easy-does-it" introduction to the German language - smooth and gentle with no reference to grammar rules - and prepares learners for the next stage of the course »Paul, Lisa & Co. A1.1«. »Paul, Lisa & Co. A1.1« and »Paul, Lisa & Co. A1.2« lead on to Level A1, teaching grammar in a way that suits very young learners. Children who already have some knowledge of German can start immediately with »Paul, Lisa & Co. A1.1.

Stories to help you learn!

Relating the adventures of the four friends Paul, Lisa, Julia and Alex helps to teach language in a relevant context and in an entertaining way. Topics such as a birthday, animals, hobbies or holidays provide great potential and create together with the personal histories of the protagonists an emotional link with young learners. The broad spectrum of practice material in »Paul, Lisa & Co.« supports a holistic and taskbased approach to teaching.

Guaranteed objectives!

In the coursebook the children create their own portfolio at the end of each lesson. In the workbook they are able to repeat and consolidate their learning objectives through a wide choice of practice material. Exercises that involve colouring, solving puzzles, cutting and glueing make it even more fun.

»Paul, Lisa & Co.« follows the same methodological and didactic principles as two other courses in our list: »Beste Freunde« and »Mit uns«, thus providing a coherent and suitable teaching concept for learners at primary and secondary level.

Planetino – language learning in an entertaining way

It's in their games that children discover the world - ever eager to learn and using all their senses the little ones take in what happens around them. This natural curiosity and the joy of playing games is made use of by »Planetino«. Movement games, model making and singing are three of the ways used to teach content in such an entertaining and variable way that success comes of its own accord.

Target group: eight to eleven-year-olds with no previous knowledge of German Media:

Well-founded methodology: making things fun to do

Children explore their world actively. »Planetino« turns learning a language into an active experience. With songs, little stories and a play to round things off. All aspects of language acquisition are systematically dealt with. The topics reflect the reality of the lives of young learners: Funny comic strips und pictures provide the right motivation, an opportunity for kids to identify with characters and join in the fun.

Bright and cheerful - but clearly structured

Alongside their desire for variety and entertainment children also need one important thing: reliable structures. »Planetino« caters to this need with a well-founded concept. All lessons are clearly defined and made transparent for learners and teachers alike so they have a clear picture of what is going on. Exciting topics are presented in a multitude of forms with appropriate tasks and exercises - a slow language progression makes starting to learn German easy. Vocabulary, grammar and phrases are repeated regularly in a kind of learning spiral - one of the general principles of the course.

»Planetino« means learning successfully with all one's senses up to level A1 - after Book 3 work can easily be continued with »Planet 2«.

Broad range of products

The accompanying material offers a variety of different choices: from entertaining booklets to interactive coursebooks enabling you to present and work with pictures, exercises and texts on a whiteboard and a video projector.

Beste Freunde – because friends can help you to learn faster!

What gives us the most pleasure? It's the experiences we share with our friends. »Beste Freunde« is a language course developed for schools to teach German as a Foreign Language successfully and in a motivating way with a minimal number of weekly lessons. It is based on well-tried language teaching methods and a reliable choice of practice material for use in class with a minimal amount of necessary preparation.

Experience German together with friends

Young people learn best from each other and with each other. Following this precept, »Beste Freunde« revolves around a group of teenagers: they accompany students through the book showing them aspects of everyday life in Germany embedded in entertaining stories.

Teach simply and reliably

The lucid construction pattern of the course makes navigation easy and short lessons guarantee varied and interesting classroom teaching. The slow and easy progression with a clear sequence of tasks makes learning German simple.

All this makes it possible to teach the language successfully with only a minimal number of weekly lessons.

Practise successfully

The workbook with its reliable choice of practice material is closely linked to the coursebook and is designed to suit the needs of school use. Special emphasis is placed on the use of grammar and the development of writing skills practised in short simple steps - to be used in class as a change from normal teaching or for independent practice at home.

Planet Plus - the successful new and revised edition of our classic course!

The well-versed team of »Planet« authors has now made our popular course even more attractive: »Planet Plus« has new content to offer, short units and a modern design with a host of fascinating photos that will appeal to teenagers - at the same time the familiar language progression and easy-tounderstand structure of the course make preparation for class almost "child's play"!

Learning in short stages

»Planet Plus« consists of two separate halflength books per level with each book containing four modules each with three short units: thus dividing the substance of the course into more manageable portions in which the short stories in each module form the familiar framework. To accompany the coursebook from level A1 onwards there is now entertaining film material available - two films per book that follow exactly the content and progression of the coursebook. One more plus point: the initial pages of each of the separate half-length books make it possible to have a "soft start" to learning the new language.

A clear and transparent design to encourage learner autonomy

A new feature of the modern attractive design is the presentation of learning objectives in an extra column. Your students are able to see what is expected of them in each lesson and this will encourage your class to learn independently and develop their learner autonomy! The new magazine pages at the end of the coursebook will make classroom teaching brighter and more interesting - here you have games, cultural background material and suggestions for teaching with the »Planet Plus« films constantly at your disposal.

Practice made easy

The separate workbook now also has a new full-colour design and forms a perfectly integrated extension to the writing, listening, reading and self-discovery grammar practice offered by the course. And by completing the "mini tests" for each lesson, available as interactive exercises, your pupils can quite easily test their level of knowledge for themselves.

Structured for successful learning

»Planet Plus« structural design follows the familiar sequence: introduction, cognition, application, practice. Whenever new content is practised, previously encountered material is revised at the same time, thus consolidating the whole syllabus - and as always in an entertaining and varied way!

Planet Plus – has many plus points to offer

deutsch.com – in the midst of life!

In »deutsch.com«, Prof. Dr. Neuner, with a team of young authors, has used the results of research into multilingualism to create a language course with a great deal of practical relevance for today's young students and the situation they find themselves in: in the midst of life.

Lots of languages - lots of fun

Ice cream and biology, fashion and family, a VIP quiz and a model casting show - these are some of the surprising perspectives that »deutsch.com« uses to illustrate the many lifestyles and different realities of teenagers in German-speaking countries and at the same time to cover the topics required at the various levels of competence. In this way the course conveys and combines information on cultural background with content that appeals to teenagers. Modern text types present authentic language that teenagers can then readily use in their everyday lives.

The advantages of a multilingual approach

»deutsch.com« aims to actively involve learners - with the aim of offering them an efficient and economical teaching and learning process. As they learn a new language, their previous knowledge of other languages and their mother tongue are brought into play. Commonalities and differences in basic vocabulary and grammar are highlighted. Already familiar learning techniques and strategies are reactivated, applied and extended, thus ensuring that the learning process is a quick and lasting success.

Active right from the start

The task-oriented, communicative approach makes conscious use of multilingual learning strategies. Grammar, vocabulary and speech functions are taught systematically - within the framework of a slow and easy progression. Categorising the short and self-explanatory tasks and exercises according to different skills and learning objectives make things transparent so that teenage students become quickly aware of their progress. They soon recognize how successful their learning process has been and then stick to the task.

With the new interactive coursebook pictures, exercises and texts can be presented on a video projector or a whiteboard in a lively and entertaining way.

Ideen – successful teaching with the findings of developmental psychology

In making the transition from childhood to adulthood, teenagers must newly define their own identity. The transition from teenager to adult is not an easy one and is often accompanied by disassociation processes - which can be quite a challenge for teachers in class. With »Ideen« Prof. Dr. Herbert Puchta and Dr. Wilfried Krenn have developed a coursebook that takes on board these developmental psychological concerns.

Target group: teenagers and young adults with no prior knowledge of German

Get them interested, don't lecture them

Teenagers are fundamentally never very interested in school subjects, but rather concern themselves with larger issues in life such as life and death, poverty and wealth etc. »Ideen« uses this fact to create unusual topics that are then gradually linked to the world that teenagers actually experience.

Subjects: From the unusual to a personal experience

Teenagers are not always prepared to talk about themselves and to reveal personal details. The further the content is from their personal circumstances, the more motivating and stimulating it is likely to be. The preference for unusual content goes hand in hand with both a fascination with the extreme and realistic details. They like to identify with idols who seem to have what it takes to survive in a threatening world – courage, ingenuity, creativity and love.

»Ideen« is built on texts far removed from teenage daily life, making it easier for teens to show interest for the subject. In the following sections, however, such subjects are brought into connection with the world of teenagers and simultaneously with the major teaching subjects. And so learning German becomes motivating and effective for the teens.

Methodology

»Ideen« follows a task-oriented, communicative approach where linguistic skills and partial knowledge are integrated and exercised in such a way that teenagers' competences in a foreign language are developed in an interesting and motivating way.

Envigorating not moralizing

In lessons, the task-oriented, communicative approach is emphasised, in which language skills are practised together in an integrated manner. Using a large number of different text types teenagers learn authentic language and how to use it authentically along with the most important grammatical structures and vocabulary. The short texts taken from magazines, newspapers, interviews, songs or poems stimulate discussion.

Reaching your target without pressure

Vocabulary and grammar are systematically built up - the slow and easy, cyclical progression takes into consideration the different abilities and competences of teenagers in heterogeneous learning groups. Important language is continually repeated and natural revision and practice phases integrated into lesson planning.

Active right from the start

With the new interactive coursebook pictures, exercises and texts can be presented on a whiteboard or a video projector in a lively and entertaining way.

Mit uns! - With us ... learning German is fun!

»Mit uns« is a course for advanced young learners of German, based on their previous knowledge of the language and developing it further systematically. An interesting variety of topics and texts encourages teenage learners to form their own opinions and achieve new insights.

Texts relevant to the target group and teenage role models

The course is very clearly divided up into modules: the topics in each module are presented by personable teenagers who create a personal and emotional rapport with young students. A wide choice of authentic reading and listening texts take account of teenage interests and train their reading and listening strategies.

Project work and authentic writing stimuli

From the very beginning »Mit uns« puts the productive skills of speaking and writing at the forefront of the language learning process. A great deal of emphasis is placed on transparent and comprehensible exercises and tasks that encourage language production - in both independent as well as cooperative forms of learning. Authentic writing stimuli and a variety of projects promote oral and written powers of expression.

The perfect correlation between courseand workbook makes targeting specific areas of language learning possible

Part and parcel of work with texts in »Mit uns« is the presentation of grammar structures in the coursebook that can then be "discovered", revised and extended in the workbook where students are required to formulate the rule themselves independently. In conjunction with the coursebook the vocabulary work included in the workbook contributes to extending the young learners' vocabulary and to giving them the necessary strategies required for their own independent vocabulary acquisition. Specific writing practice materials in the workbook aim to prepare young learners for the exam and at the same time to improve their own writing skills.

Exam preparation

Motivating topics prepare students step by step for different current exam formats, in particular the Deutsches Sprachdiplom (DSD I und II) and the Goethe-Zertifikat B1.

Menschen im Beruf – lively and relevant

Whether they have contact through their job with tourists from Germany, Austria and Switzerland at a holiday resort or happen to be immigrants who are preparing for a future life in Germany as a health-care or medical professional: anyone in a job needs to practise the appropriate language skills relevant for acquiring practical knowledge and experience.

Target group: adults and teenagers aged 16 and upwards who wish to acquire specialist language knowledge in addition to general language teaching; students at technical and vocational schools and colleges

Specialist language helps to perfect specialist knowledge!

Our series »Menschen im Beruf« teaches the specific language required for different vocations, e.g. tourism, nursing and medicine.

Great emphasis is placed on the communicative skills required for each vocational context. Specialist vocabulary and frequently used expressions and language are practiced systematically: real situations taken from daily life at work are presented in lively dialogues and a series of authentic listening and reading texts. Practically relevant exercises make learning less monotonous and teaching more dynamic. The course-books with their attractive full-colour design include Audio-CDs with the listening texts - in addition all specialist language has been recorded for listening and speaking practice and is available as a MP3-download.

A teacher's manual is available on the Internet and gives teachers valuable tips on how to organise and manage the teaching process with relevance to the specialist language involved.

The ideal specialist-language supplement

»Menschen im Beruf« is suitable - given the necessary previous knowledge of the language - as course material in its own right for purely specialist courses or can be used in conjunction with any other general language coursebook of level A1 - B1 e.g. as supplementary material for »Menschen«. The language progression in »Menschen im Tourismus« and »Menschen in der Pflege« is exactly the same as that in »Menschen« - thus enabling general and specialist language to be combined in ideal fashion!

Training of skills for the professional life

The series »Menschen im Beruf« is completed by volumes for training of skills that play an important role in everyday life of most professions: telephone training, writing training, job application training and training for meetings and presentations.

Im Beruf – job skills are life skills

Applying for a job, the first day at work, communication with colleagues and customers ... – the new course »Im Beruf« has been designed to reflect the working day in a German-speaking country. It is, therefore, perfect for learners who are looking for a job or those who already work but need to acquire the necessary language skills.

Target group: adults and teenagers 16+ who want to learn German for vocational purposes

From classroom to working day

Conducting a consultation, giving instructions and reacting to them, participating in a discussion and understanding a report, explaining a technical appliance, answering a complaint, discussing things with colleagues: these and many other situations help to teach the language repertoire required in a vocational setting. The many examples of different vocations - business manager, master baker, technician, care worker - facilitate the transfer of the language elements to any individual working environment.

Communication in action

The course bases itself on active communication - priority is given to communication strategies in a vocational context. A variety of exercises und lots of role plays serve as stimuli for the use, practice and independent further development of the course content.

Teaching designed to suit students' needs

The units are short and clearly designed. After an introduction page with associative exercises there follow three single pages each of which focusses on a single speech act. As a result it is possible to tailor the material to suit students' needs. This will help teachers without any undue effort to design their lessons specifically geared to the course materials and the successful progress of their students.

Discover Berlin, improve your language skills! In an entertaining way devoid of any stress playing a game with family or friends. A good basic knowledge of the language will suffice to let anyone take part. Chances of winning will not be diminished if participants help each other out with any problems of pronunciation or comprehension.

In »Ein Wochenende in Berlin« there are two questions on each card. The first question is on language for people learning German and refers to vocabulary, grammar, phrases and sayings etc. The second question tests knowledge on a variety of topics relevant to Berlin, thus making the game interesting and entertaining also for players not particularly involved with language learning. Each player moves through the city on the map using his/her counter, aiming to land on the pictures of the sights where there are questions to be answered in order to collect or dispose of picture cards and to earn money for taxi, bus and subway fares.

With the right tactics and a little luck with the throw of the dice individual players can gain an advantage and infuriate their fellow participants. Whoever gets rid of their picture cards, collects new ones and then returns to their starting square wins the game.

Media: 250 quiz-cards, instructions, dices and hourglass; format: 23 x 32 x 6 cm

If words start travelling, we find German words all over the world. The purpose of the game »Wanderwörter« is to show us how German words have been assimilated into other languages and how their meaning has changed in the process. And of course the other way round, too: where do words that have been adopted into German come from and how has their meaning changed? While learning about these migratory words and their meanings, up to four players can experience any number of surprises and learners of German can increase their vocabulary along the way.

The investigators are given investigation cards and then try to establish the facts of the crime by asking the right questions. If they succeed, then the investigative team wins.
