

Unit 11, video script

Man: OK, so let's see. What about Thursday?
Woman: Tomorrow? No, sorry, I can't. I'm visiting my Aunt Annie in the evening.
Man: Oh, how is she?
Woman: She's better, but she still has a fever. Well, I told her she should rest, but you know Aunt Annie.
Man: I hope she gets well soon.
Woman: Thanks. So what about Friday then?
Man: Well, I'm working late on Friday. Our colleagues from Ireland are visiting, and we're having dinner together. Sorry, but I have to be there.
Woman: Too bad. I have to work at the weekend.
Man: Um, Sunday evening? Are you working on Monday?
Woman: No, I'm not. Um, Sunday afternoon is OK for me, but what about you?
Man: No problem, you know: I don't have to start at 6.30 like you.
Woman: Yeah, OK. Sunday then?
Man: OK. What do you think: concert, film, theatre?
Woman: What about a combination of café and film? I finish work at 3.
Man: Great! There's a new cafe at the corner of Edward and Dorset Street. You have to see it. It's fantastic!
Woman: Great idea!
Man: I can meet you at the hospital at 3 p.m. We can walk to the café and have a coffee there. Then we can take the subway to the cinema and maybe we can have a drink after the film.
Woman: Good plan!
Man: What about that new film with, oh, what's his name?
Woman: Um, I don't know.
Man: Let's look at the programme and see what's on.
Woman: Yeah.
Man: See you on Sunday.
Woman: Bye-bye!
Man: Bye!
